A beautiful building is not just brick and concrete but an individual entity with character, reflecting the taste and preferences of the owner. Its each and every part adds to enhance its overall beauty and character.

For inside decoration a variety of woodwork, lightings, and paintings are used. Similarly for exterior decoration beautiful designs of grills, gates or railings is a must.

They serve two purposes: First and foremost aim is to provide protection and safety. In that respect they must be of solid material and their joints must be strong enough to sustain the pressure of time, weather or any security-breach. Secondly, they also serve as aesthetic elements and in that respect they must be in harmony with its surroundings.

Highlights.

- *Straight iron bar or pipe design for open construction
