No doubt, Indian children are rather too familiar with the story of Lav-Kush - their early childhood years in the Ashram of Maharishi Valmiki, and their trials and tribulations. They have seen their adventures on TV, heard about them from their grandmother, etc. But a glossy colourful package, depicting their early years and the conflict with their father's army, with colourful illustrations, which they can possess, hold in their hands and take to bed, has truly different appeal altogether. This book takes them into the world of Lav-Kush, retold in an illuminating and gripping style to hold them spellbound. Every child would love it.

About the author:

Nilima Sinha, a prize-winning author, has been writing children's books in Hindi and English for over 25 years. Her mystery-adventure novels have been hugely popular with young readers. Besides mystery and adventure she has written short stories, picture books, plays, historical fiction and non-fiction for different age groups. As President of the Association of Writers and Illustrators for children (AWIC), she is actively involved in the promotion of good literature for children to foster in them a love for reading and books.
